

Galactic opens a new subsidiary in Italy

Brussels, 14th November 2013 - Galactic is proud to announce the opening of its new sales office located in Milano, Italy: Galactic s.r.l. Owing to this expansion, Galactic will provide a more localised service to its Italian customers.

Galactic has had a presence in Italy for years through long-term relationships with end-users and strategic partners. Those partnerships will be strengthened and will be better supported thanks to the new commercial office located in Milano. On top of its traditional business in the Italian food industry, the Belgian company also sees a very important potential for industrial, cosmetic, and pharmaceutical applications.

“Galactic s.r.l. will service and reinforce Galactic’s existing Italian business and provide a foothold location for continued development throughout Southern Europe”, says Mónica Muñoz Mora, Sales Manager EMEA - Food, at Galactic. “As a world leader in the field, our intention is to keep expanding our horizons while maintaining close links with our clients on the ground.”

We also take the occasion to inform you that Galactic will be attending Food Ingredients Europe (FiE) on November 19-21 in Frankfurt, Germany (Booth 8J77). As the world's most important gathering of ingredient suppliers, distributors and buyers from the food & beverage industry, it will be an opportunity for us to present our latest innovations and solutions to our clients and prospects.
